What data do we collect?

MVU-CC collects the following data that you supply to us:

- Organization data (organization name, address, contact details)
- Personal identification information obtained by your organization (name, email address, phone number, and other contact details) that you supply to us to store securely on your behalf

How do we collect your data?

You directly provide MVU-CC with most of the data we collect. We collect and process data when you:

- Supply your data to us for secure storage and redundancy

MVU-CC may also receive your data indirectly from the following sources:

- Affiliated Transcendental Meditation-related organizations to which you have supplied data and consented to share with us for the purposes described in this policy

When we receive data indirectly, we rely on the transferring organization to have obtained your consent or to have another lawful basis for sharing your data with us.

Legal basis for processing

Under the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), we must have a lawful basis for processing your personal data. Our lawful bases are:

- Performance of a contract (Article 6(1)(b) GDPR): Where processing is necessary to perform our data storage services pursuant to an agreement signed with you or your organization.
- Legitimate interests (Article 6(1)(f) GDPR): Where processing is necessary for our legitimate interests or those of a third party, provided those interests are not overridden by your rights and interests. Our legitimate interests include:
 - Maintaining accurate and secure records for historical verification purposes
 - Ensuring data integrity and redundancy for organizations we serve
 - Supporting affiliated Transcendental Meditation-related organizations in maintaining reliable records

You have the right to object to processing based on legitimate interests. To do so, please contact us at info@mvu-cc.org, and we will assess whether our legitimate interests override your objection.

You are not legally or contractually obligated to provide your personal data to us. However, if you do not provide the data, we will be unable to provide our data storage services to you.

How will we use your data?

MVU-CC collects your data so that we can:

- Securely store your organization and personal data
- Provide data redundancy and backup services for you
- Respond to your requests and communications

MVU-CC will not share your data with any third parties, except for our data processor (Microsoft) as described below.

How do we store your data?

MVU-CC securely stores your data in Microsoft Dynamics, a cloud-based database platform. Microsoft acts as our data processor and processes your data only on our instructions and in accordance with a data processing agreement that meets GDPR requirements.

Microsoft implements appropriate technical and organizational security measures to protect your data, including encryption, access controls, and regular security assessments. For more information about Microsoft's security practices, please visit Microsoft's Trust Center.

International data transfers

Your data may be transferred to, and processed in, countries outside the European Economic Area (EEA) as part of Microsoft's cloud infrastructure. Where such transfers occur, they are protected by:

- The European Commission's adequacy decisions for certain countries; or
- Standard Contractual Clauses approved by the European Commission; or
- Other appropriate safeguards recognized under GDPR

You may request a copy of the safeguards in place by contacting us at info@mvu-cc.org.

How long do we keep your data?

MVU-CC will retain your organization and personal data for as long as necessary to provide our data storage services to you, or until you request deletion. Specifically:

- Active data: Retained for the duration of our service relationship with you or your organization
- Upon termination of services or upon your request: Data will be deleted within 30 days, unless retention is required by law

You may request deletion of your data at any time by contacting us at info@mvu-cc.org.

Marketing

MVU-CC will not use your data for marketing purposes.

What are your data protection rights?

Under the GDPR, you have the following rights:

The right to access – You have the right to request copies of your personal data.

The right to rectification – You have the right to request that we correct any information you believe is inaccurate or complete any information you believe is incomplete.

The right to erasure – You have the right to request that we erase your personal data, subject to certain conditions.

The right to restrict processing – You have the right to request that we restrict the processing of your personal data, subject to certain conditions.

The right to object to processing – You have the right to object to our processing of your personal data, particularly where we rely on legitimate interests as our legal basis. Upon receiving your objection, we will assess whether our compelling legitimate grounds override your interests, rights, and freedoms.

The right to data portability – You have the right to request that we transfer the data you have supplied to another organization, or directly to you, in a structured, commonly used, and machine-readable format.

If you wish to exercise any of these rights, please contact us at info@mvu-cc.org. We will respond to your request within one month. In certain circumstances, we may extend this period by two additional months, in which case we will inform you of the extension and the reasons for it.

Cookies

Our website uses only strictly necessary cookies that are essential for the operation of the site. These cookies enable core functionality such as user authentication and delivering personalized content based on your preferences. Because these cookies are necessary for the website to function, they do not require your consent under applicable data protection laws, including the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR). You cannot opt out of strictly necessary cookies, as doing so would prevent the website from operating properly.
